

3.2 Output Modules

The responsibility of output modules is to receive content from input modules and add it to your website in one or another form in a random periods of time.

The whole algorithm is developed to as closely as possible simulate human updating of a website to avoid search engines penalization and to grow your website randomly over time.